Make lasting change to your relationship

Join Paul Gale-Baker for this enjoyable, relationship-changing course

Relationship Renovation offers participants the opportunity to learn how to recognise recurring, negative patterns in their relationship and gives couples the tools to change these patterns.

This course can help you build a more satisfying, intimate and communicative relationship.

The course provides a safe, comfortable environment to explore your relationship. You will not be asked to share personal information.

The course is suitable for couples or individuals.

In this course you will

- Learn to recognise unhelpful patterns in your relationship
- Learn effective tools and strategies to overcome difficulties
- Learn the origin of communication problems and how to overcome them
- Learn how to have a lasting, satisfying relationship

"I have found Paul to be an excellent facilitator and communicator who really 'walks his talk' and delivers his material in a non-judgemental humorous way." Helen P

Paul Gale-Baker is a relationship therapist and counsellor, course leader, executive coach and public speaker. He has lead courses throughout Australia and overseas for more than 12 years.

"Paul's workshop helped us discover a deeper intimacy and has been the catalyst for regaining the spark and vitality in our relationship missing since the birth of our first child 8 months ago." Dean T and Suez K
